DBS Group

Clarity behind its confidence for FY26F

- We turn more constructive on DBS after its analyst briefing on 30 Apr 26 due to its resilient NII and stronger growth in its wealth management fees.
- We raise our assumptions on wealth management fee income growth, resulting in higher EPS of 1.1-1.3% for FY26F-28F.
- Upgrade to Add, with a higher GGM-based TP of S$63.80, reflecting EPS changes and higher long-term ROE assumption of 19.0% (18.0% previously).

Well-positioned to navigate interest rate environment

As at end-FY25, DBS had c.S$80bn in fixed rate assets due in FY26. Management shared during its analyst briefing on 30 Apr 26 that it was able to bring this down to c.S$60bn as of end-1Q26, which will help to mitigate downward pressure on FY26F NIM (see Fig 1 for key abbreviations used in report) as a result of potential interest rate weakness. Nevertheless, management now expects no interest rate cuts by the US Federal Reserve for 2026 given the prevailing inflationary pressure as a result of the Middle East conflict. In addition, DBS shared that it had been able to deploy its excess deposits into high-quality liquid assets (HQLAs) with NIMs of c.1.0-1.2%, which, though NIM-dilutive given the group's NIM of 1.89% in 1Q26, will contribute positively to NII, especially as DBS is guiding for high single-digit deposit growth in FY26F, outpacing loan growth of a mid-single digit.

Efforts to grow wealth management franchise bearing fruit

For its wealth management fee, DBS noted that its offerings across the wealth continuum from Treasures, Treasures Private Client, to Private Wealth segregation has supported growth that the bank has observed for both investments in insurance segments. In 1Q26, management highlighted bancassurance as a key bright spot for wealth management fee growth of 25.3% yoy and 40.6% qoq. Its wealth management franchise has also observed growth across both onshore and offshore clients, which benefits from growing wealth accumulation across its operating geographies (i.e. Singapore, Indonesia, Taiwan, Hong Kong and mainland China), and Singapore and Hong Kong's position as a wealth management hub, according to management.

Upgrade to Add; revising long-term ROE assumptions to ROTE

We upgrade DBS to an Add after lifting our FY26F-28F EPS forecasts by 1.1-1.3% to take into account stronger wealth management fee growth that would allow DBS to eke out earnings growth in FY26F, with potential upside on better deposits growth. Our GGM-based TP (ROE: 19.0%, LTG: 2.0%) is raised to S$63.80 as we replace our long-term ROE assumption using DBS's return on tangible equity (ROTE) as we believe it better reflects DBS's profitability on its assets. Re-rating catalysts include sustained run-rate of wealth management fee income and write-back of provisioning following the easing of asset quality concerns for its Hong Kong commercial real estate exposure. Downside risks include: slowdown in net new money inflow for its wealth management segment, and accelerated non-performing asset formation resulting in higher credit costs.

ESG in a nutshell

LSEG ESG Scores

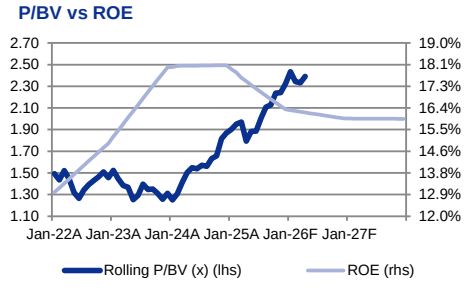

B+	B-	B	A+	A-	C+
ESG Grade	ESG Controversies Grade	ESG Combined Grade	ESG Environment Pillar Grade	ESG Social Pillar Grade	ESG Governance Pillar Grade

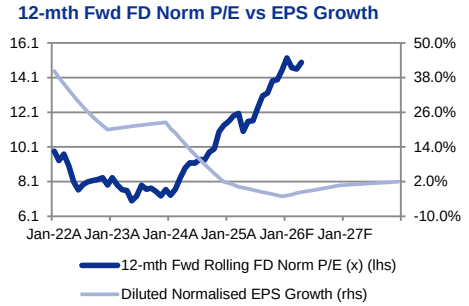

DBS scored a B for its ESG Combined Score by LSEG in 2025, an improvement from B- in 2024. Excluding environmental controversies, DBS scored A for its ESG score in FY23 and is among the best-in-class in Singapore, in our view. The bank has progressively contributed to the development of best practices in specific sectors via its Responsible Financing Standard, and we expect this to be continuously refined going forward. DBS has committed to zero thermal coal exposure by 2039F.

Keep your eye on	Implications
DBS has been flagged for environmental controversies relating to the financing of palm oil plantations, leading to deforestation.	Controversies surrounding the financing of palm oil plantations have been long-standing. DBS recognises that it can play a role in achieving a more sustainable palm oil sector and requires new clients to demonstrate alignment with its No Deforestation, No Peat, and No Exploitation (NDPE) policies. These controversies are not currently factored into valuations, in our view, but a prolonged misalignment with responsible financing practices could be a longer-term drag on the stock.
ESG highlights	Implications
DBS's overall B ESG combined score is among the best-in-class in Singapore. DBS ranks at the upper end of ESG scoring against its sector peers.	DBS has proactively raised its ESG scores over the past five years, demonstrating its commitment to improve on each pillar of this standard. While not priced in at the current stage, we believe that DBS's ESG progress and prominence will be a key differentiating factor among more discerning investors in time to come. In addition to the adherence to its Responsible Financing Standard, advancement towards its sustainable finance target and zero thermal coal exposure commitment will support re-rating cycles, in our view.
Trends	Implications
DBS has improved its scoring in each ESG pillar over FY16-25.	The improvements are positive and consistent. The recovery and management of its environmental controversy would be key to improving the bank's scores further, in our view.
